Job description / Tasks to be developed:

The research group of Stem Cells and Regenerative Medicine aim to bring innovative treatments for incurable neurodegenerative diseases by bridging the gap between research and patients. The lab of Stem Cells and Regenerative Medicine led by Dr. Josep M. Canals, is a recognized research group by the Generalitat de Catalunya and is integrated at Creatio, the TECNIO accredited production and validation centre for advanced therapies. With a strong translational drive, we utilise our expertise in developing new strategic therapies based on gene and cell therapy, and tissue engineering, including 3D bioprinting, to develop breakthrough treatments for patients.

Huntington's disease (HD) is a monogenetic neurodegenerative disorder with devastating consequences for patients. Despite its onset is around midlife, neuronal death cannot be stopped and thus, patients with initial symptoms already have no hope for cure. The 4-Deep Brain Reconstruction (4-DBR) Consortium brings together experts from industry and academia to address this fundamental gap by developing 4D bioprinted mini-brains as tissue engineering for the treatment of HD. We believe that these implanted mini-brains can reconnect the neuronal system opening up new strategies to treat this incurable disease.

As a member of the Management & Marketing Department, the Project Manager will be responsible for the successful management and implementation of the 4-DBP project as well as supporting Creatio's ambitious vision to become a center of excellence in advanced therapies. Main duties include:

- Responsible for monitoring 4-DBR progress and ensuring it complies with existing national and international regulations.
- Main point of contact among 4-DBR partners and relevant departments (i.e. finance, communications, institutional, Ethics Committees, etc.) to promote a culture of collaboration within the consortium and with other national/international initiatives.
- Provision of on-going administrative, technical and scientific support to Creatio's public/private project portfolio.
